

Webinar Replay: The Latest Market Challenges Relating to the Russia-Ukraine Crisis

Christopher Phelps invites you to this exclusive, private webinar:

Hear the Replay

Please join us to hear directly from the expert whose insights we rely on to help guide our investment recommendations for you. Nationally recognized for his in-depth knowledge of the financial markets and economic issues, Brad's views are often sought by Bloomberg News, Wall Street Journal, Barron's, and other national and international business news outlets.

During this webinar, Brad will offer his observations on recent market challenges relating to the escalating Russia-Ukraine crisis.

You can access the replay here.

About Brad McMillan

Brad is managing principal and chief investment officer at Commonwealth Financial Network®, where he chairs the Investment committee and is primary spokesperson for the firm's investment divisions. A frequent commentator for CNBC, CNN International, and other business news media, he also offers objective, informed commentary on current market events and broader economic issues through his daily blog, The Independent Market Observer.

We hope you can join us for this timely discussion!